

Welcome to the Salienz Solutions

For four years we have been helping organizations, businesses and establishments in their relentless pursuit of growth. Providing the best of talent, skill and technology our clients have found in us an invaluable partner helping them achieve their business goals and targets. Be that consulting, application and web related development, upgrading and updating legacy systems, data warehousing, mobile application, logo design and making most of the recent technologies such as the Cloud we will not stop and we will not rest till we produce a satisfactory and a cost-effective solution for you.

For four years our clients have expressed their complete satisfaction in our solutions and we have constantly elicited repeat projects from them.

At SalienzSolutions we ensure a good process is involved in executing a particular solution. We believe that a successful product is one that has undergone a rigorous and complete SDLC (Software Development Life Cycle). Our consultants will ensure that each phase starting with the Initiation phase through Design and until the Implementation and Maintenance phase of your software is done systematically and methodologically. This constant rapport with our customers is what enables us to constantly deliver successful solutions. If the need be our consultants will also interact with your users to see how useful our solutions can actually be.

At SalienzSolutions we also believe that to be on the forefront of the IT service provider business we need to use technology that is cutting-edge. From mobile applications, open source and to the cloud we ensure our consultants are on the forefront of today's technologies. Our consultants undergo periodic training to keep abreast with the new technologies. We understand that the IT scenario is under constant change and so we are ready to embrace newer technologies and also help our customers migrate from old legacy systems to the more efficient, cost-effective and less-error-prone systems of today. Please take a look at our Services page for a detailed look at the services we provide and the technologies we are conversant in

For us Customer is "King". We will not be in the business today if it not were for our valuable customers. As part of dealings with the customer we have a dedicated Project Manager who apart from managing his/her portfolio of projects also is in constant liaison with the client and if possible with users and customers of the client to ensure smooth delivery of the solutions. Many a time changes to projects are inevitable in during the lifecycle of the project. Here we stand-out in the crowd of service providers by trying to amicably listening to our clients needs instead of forcing a solution on them

Projects - Case Studies 1

Case Studies 1 – Integration – e-commerce to QuickBooks integration

Company in Australia needed a solution for their e-commerce application on their website . An average of 150 orders was being generated per day and invoices had to be generated for these orders in QuickBooks. These invoices were being created manually in QuickBooks and this was taking up a lot of time and causing severe system delays. Furthermore the slump was also causing poor delivery of goods to the customer and eventually was becoming a threat to customer satisfaction and sales.

SalienzSolutions studied company problem and implemented a solution whereby the manual system of creating invoices was replaced by an automated system. Invoices would be automatically generated in QuickBooks. From the system one could also maintain monthly stock and generate reports. SalienzSolutions ensured that the web application seamless integrated with the QuickBooks application.

The site registered an immediate spurt in sales in the very first week of implementing the solution. It has been highly appreciated by company and the system continues to work perfectly to this very day.

Case Studies 2 – Migration-C/dbase application to PHP/MySQL conversion

Butler application had about 3000 records in their dbase database. The existing system was not able to extract data efficiently particularly when ingredients for a particular menu item was provided. The existing system was written in C.

SalienzSolutions studied the existing system and offered an alternative and better solution using PHP and MySQL.

Butler application couldn't have done it better. The Php-MySql combo doubled the overall web-application speed. Retrieving and storing information no longer was a chore. Making menu items, extracting information about the ingredients of menu items was a joy with the new system.
